

VERDICT ON THE FIRE FATALITIES

The Coroner's Jury Fixed No Definite Blame.

As told in late editions of Friday's Post-Dispatch, the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury on the deaths of seven firemen in the collapse of the building at 324 Chestnut street held the city responsible for the catastrophe, but fixed no blame on any particular official.

The verdict is as follows:
At an inquest convened at the coroner's office in the city of St. Louis on the seventh day of February, 1902, before John T. Fitzsimmons, deputy coroner of the city aforesaid, upon the view of the bodies of August Thierry, William J. Dundon, Michael J. Kehoe, Franklin W. McElrath, Charles H. Krenning, Charles Westenhoff and Daniel Steele, we, the jury, find upon full investigation of the facts in the case and the evidence that the deceased came to their deaths on the fourth day of February, 1902, at about 8:55 p. m., in the building at 324 and 314 Chestnut street, as the result of shock and injuries received at the same time and place by being crushed in the ruins of a building which completely collapsed while the said deceased persons were in the performance of their duty as firemen.

We believe that the buildings were not sufficiently strong to be suitable for the purpose for which they were used; that the owners and tenants of said buildings were not aware of this fact; that a disaster might have been avoided had better inspection been made by competent authorities. We do not find that it is the fault of the commissioner of public buildings, nor of the inspector under his direction. The commissioner is hampered by insufficient appropriations by the Municipal Assembly which shall insure proper inspection of all buildings to be erected, and to permit of thorough systematic inspections, which alone can insure a safety to tenants and to the general public. We urge upon the proper authorities that suitable representation be made to the Municipal Assembly, which shall insure proper inspection of all buildings to be erected, and to permit of thorough systematic inspections, which alone can insure a safety to tenants and to the general public.

ROBINSON CASE TO BE PROBED

Coroner Will Investigate
Stenographer's Death.

WAS UNCONSCIOUS SIX DAYS

ATTACHES OF HOWARD'S SALOON
SAID HE FELL DOWNSTAIRS.

Own Remarks in Conscious Moments and Varying Statements of Others
Made the Affair Appear Mysterious.

The coroner's inquest on the death of John A. Robinson, court stenographer, who died at the City Hospital Friday evening, will be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning. Attaches of Howard's saloon, Garrison avenue and Olive street, where Robinson received fatal injuries last Saturday night, and friends of the dead man who were in the saloon and the adjoining card rooms at the time, will be summoned before the coroner's inquest.

Robinson died at 6 o'clock Friday evening, having lived for almost six days in a state of unconsciousness, broken only by two or three short periods of partial sensibility. Mystery has surrounded the case since the removal of Robinson from Howard's saloon last Saturday night.

In his first interval of partial consciousness at the City Hospital the injured man told Dr. Rassieur that he had been "hit."

He later repeated the same statement to two newspaper men, saying: "I was hit with something on the head and shoulders."

Sunday afternoon he said to his wife and Judge John A. Talty that he had fallen down stairs.

The scene of the supposed fall was the subject of contradictory statements by the saloon management, three different stairways being named as the one down which he had tumbled. The last one named was the stairway leading from the card rooms above the saloon direct to Garrison avenue.

Robinson's friends say that they found him at the foot of this stairway, and carried him back upstairs. Policeman Dempsey found him lying at the head of a rear stair.

Mrs. Robinson, who remained at her husband's bedside almost constantly for six days, believed at first that her husband had been the victim of an assault, but later was inclined to credit the theory of accident.

By permission of the deputy coroner, the bodies taken to Harrigan & Sheehan's undertaking rooms.

Robinson was one of the best-known and best-liked men in St. Louis. He was official stenographer in the coroner's office under Coroner Walker, later became coroner with the circuit court. He was recently appointed stenographer of the court of appeals.

In addition to his official duties, he was a large amount of work for the transit commission, and the proceedings of the official inquest on the deaths of 13 children from cholera, held recently in the mayor's office.

He was a member of the St. Louis Hotel Association, and his uncle is an attorney to Emperor Francis Joseph.

He has caused a distinguished Austrian to be put in jail on a charge of forgery.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Arpad von Kubinyi, formerly a first lieutenant in the Austrian army, then a banker and last a journalist, is locked up in the Tombs because of the allegations of a German hotelkeeper of this city, who charges von Kubinyi with having stolen $10,000 from the hotel.

von Kubinyi says his father is president of the bar association of the Northern district of New York, and that his uncle is an attorney to Emperor Francis Joseph.

MAKING A CLEAN SWEEP

OPEN SESAME.

Do you know what an open sesame is? It is the key to riches. For instance: A 5-cent piece is an open sesame, for it is the key to the riches of tomorrow's great Sunday Post-Dispatch. Here are some of them:

A color page, showing how the Black Hawks of Alton shot the Plaza bird. The story is there and, once read, it is not soon forgotten.

Joseph Smith is the prophet of the Josephite Mormons. His home is at Lamoni, Ia., and this little city is entirely given over to people of his faith. Here the prophet, who appears a prosperous farmer rather than the shepherd of a half million communicants, directs the work of the reorganized Mormon church. A Sunday Post-Dispatch correspondent has visited the prophet and tells this illustrated story tomorrow.

George Emory Smith, a St. Louisian, has purchased and lives in the Villa del Riposo, near Florence, Italy. It was built in 1255. See the pictures and story tomorrow.

Thomas E. Flaherty, a St. Louis architect, is the city's champion linguist. He knows 15 tongues, and writes the sentiment, "God is Life and Master of All Things," in each of these tongues tomorrow.

Mrs. Sophia Demuth, who does this sort of thing at Alton, has rather startled her community by announcing that Alton is running 32 pretty babies behind the demand. Mrs. Demuth has this many applications for children for adoption, and the children are not available. Read her story tomorrow. She tells what, in the view of the people who want children for adoption, the ideal child is like.

The St. Louis St. Charles & Western Electric Railroad is the quietest in Missouri. It is called the All Saints' route. You'll laugh when you see the reason. Then it has telephones in the cars, does not permit its conductors to touch money and compels its motormen to keep an eye out for passengers running down side streets. This seems a fairly tale, but it's true.

Vino, a terrible Philippine drink which crazes and kills American soldiers, has come into this prevalent use that the army has made its purchase or sale a punishable offense. Read what Capt. F. H. Lawson, just returned from the islands, has to say of it tomorrow.

The court photographer of Berlin has taken a superb photograph of Prince Henry and his family. This picture will be printed tomorrow. It occupies half a page, and is the best thing that has appeared since the announcement that the Kaiser's brother would visit America and St. Louis.

It is mankind to fall because too many men of this day are bred in the city? Prof. De Garmo said as much in a recent address before St. Louis school teachers. Tomorrow's Sunday Post-Dispatch contains an open forum for the discussion of this interesting subject. Contributions by James L. Blair and Frederick W. Lehmann of St. Louis; Lewis Nixon, the new leader of Tammany; and Richard L. Goldmann, the author, Messrs. Nixon and Le Gallienne have expressed themselves upon this subject even before the De Garmo address in St. Louis.

What is believed to be the oldest inscription ever found has been brought to the United States from the ruins of old Babylon. Dr. Hugo Radau, assyriologist, contributes an interesting page upon this subject tomorrow. He believes this old inscription, which is reproduced, to have been written 5000 years before Christ, and he shows how he counts the years back to that remote period.

Julius Hurter of 2346 South Tenth street, St. Louis, has recently returned from a trip to Europe and Africa, whither he went in search of natural history specimens—snakes, lizards, turtles, etc. Mr. Hurter's collection in these things is accounted the finest private collection in the United States. Upon this trip across the ocean he caught specimens of historic places. The old Alhambra at Granada afforded him his best field for lizards. The ruins of Pompeii

CIRCUIT ATTORNEY FOLK WISHES TO HEAR UTHOFF, WHO SAD, "MY FRIENDS THREW ME DOWN"

Former Councilman Declares, "I am Regarded as a Thief, and I Will Not Tell the Grandjury What I Know About the Council's Action on the Traction Bill.

BENCH WARRANTS ARE PREPARED FOR SATURDAY AFTERNOON

At 2 o'clock this afternoon Circuit Attorney Folk said he would call upon Former Councilman Fred G. Uthoff for his testimony very shortly, probably within the hour.

Prior to making this statement Mr. Folk had learned of Mr. Uthoff's declaration that he, Uthoff, would not tell the grandjury what he knew about the Council's action on the Central Traction bill.

Mr. Uthoff was at this time still in the witness room where he has been obliged to spend most of his time between 10 a. m. and 7 p. m., during the last three days, having been subpoenaed as a witness, and kept waiting.

Frederick G. Uthoff, former member of the City Council, whose vote passed the Central Traction bill, was interviewed by the Post-Dispatch in the corridor outside the witness room attached to the grandjury room Saturday morning.

"It is stated on good authority that you have said that a certain member of the Council received $50,000 for his vote for the Central Traction bill in the event that it was necessary to pass the bill. Is that true?" Mr. Uthoff was asked.

"Your figures are wrong," replied Mr. Uthoff. "I don't want to talk about the matter now."

"You acknowledge, however, that this member was offered money for his vote, do you not?"

"Well, I will say this much. A man who was lobbying for the Central Traction Co. sent for me. He told me during the course of the conversation in his room at the Planters that he had given a certain member of the council, I will not mention his name, a certain amount of money. I do not say how much, but your figures are incorrect, to vote for the passage of the bill."

"Did this lobbyist also offer you money to vote for the bill?"

"I will not talk about this matter now. When the time comes I am going to get someone to write a true story of the passage of that Central Traction bill, BUT NOT BEFORE IT IS OUTLAWED."

"The fact of the matter was that I was thrown down by the friends I sought to protect and aid. For four years I have rested under the stigma of being a thief. This grandjury believes me to be a thief and treats me as such."

"I will not tell it what I know."

Mr. Uthoff was greatly excited in his speech and manner.

"A friend of mine came to me," he continued in an agitated voice, "and told me that this lobbyist had been telling that he had given me $50,000 for my vote. I told my friend to go to the lobbyist and bring him before me, and that if he could not prove what he said I would kill him."

Photographs of beautiful floral decorations in the home of Mrs. Paul Brown of 419 Forest Park boulevard, during a reception, will be printed tomorrow.

A Sunday Post-Dispatch authority gives a lesson in good manners in many little things tomorrow.

The mayor of Beverly, Mass., has sent to President Roosevelt six cats to clean out the White House rats. Each of these is a famous cat in his way. Pictures of the cats tomorrow.

How the St. Louis public library prepares for the celebration of Lincoln's birthday, a story for tomorrow.

Mrs. Newhouse, who went from a mining hut in Colorado to the arms of King Edward's set in London, is visiting in this country, and a correspondent of the Sunday Post-Dispatch who has visited her tells her remarkable story and something of the woman tomorrow.

The Cuban question receives the attention of Mr. Dooley tomorrow. There are pearls of truth under piles of fun.

Seven thousand five hundred men are working in Missouri, carrying the St. Louis & Colorado Railroad through the hills of some of the hilly country. A color page illustration and story tomorrow.

MRS. SOFFEL SUFFERS IN MIND
Her Husband, the Ex-Warden, Has Engaged Counsel for Her, but Will Not Defend Her.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 8.—Mrs. Soffel, who aided in the escape of the Biddies and who was shot during the battle which resulted in their recapture and death, shows considerable improvement in her condition today.

She is suffering more from mental distress than from the wound and it may be a week or two before she will be able to get up. Her husband, ex-warden Soffel, has refused to see her or have any communication with her in the future.

Mrs. Soffel is receiving letters from all over the country. Most of them contain threats and advice of a religious nature. When she opens a letter and discovers that it is one of this character she turns it over to some of the nurses without reading. When the letters are taken from her attorneys proffering their services free in her case.

THE DOUGH WAS SLIPPERY

After the Council adjourned and the House of Delegates had passed the bill there was more "dough" in the City Hall than there had been for many months.

It is said one of the hoodlums went to the man who was carrying the bag of $5,000 about him and borrowed it "until tomorrow," saying that he needed it to square a few little deals in and about the building. "Tomorrow never comes" proved true in this instance. It is said the man never saw the $5,000 again, nor did he ever have the nerve to draw the $5,000 that had been deposited to his credit by the opposition to the Central Traction bill. Someone had told the opposition that the money was at the same time nursing a roll containing 45,000 bills of Central Traction money.

THE PROMOTERS OF THIS BILL RECEIVED $250,000 FOR THE FRANCHISE

On the day after the bill was passed the Post-Dispatch charged that money was used to influence members of the House and Council to support the measure. On April 18 after a thorough investigation, it specified these charges:

HOW THE MONEY PASSED.
On the same day that the bill was passed and just a short time before the House met a member entered a caucus of the men favorable to the bill, with 25 United States notes, each of the value of $100—total of $2,500. When the caucus adjourned for the House meeting this member had only five notes, or $500 left.

The three members who were opposed to the measure were Speaker Lloyd, F. C. Early and Harry M. Schuchman. After the vote was taken and many members of the House had watched the passing of the bill through the Council, a second caucus of 25 members of the House who voted for the grab bill was held. At its conclusion the hoodlums did not have any of the $100 notes. Schuchman, however, voted for the bill, but was not in this caucus.

The "dough" for votes in the Council were as open at the City Hall as those for stocks on the public exchanges. The franchise grabbers were convinced it was no more to pay as high as $10,000 for some of the votes.

Discussing the Post-Dispatch's exposure of the bribery Julius Lehmann, one of the men who voted for the bill, said he had "no doubt that money had been freely used to promote the grab, but I didn't get any share of the booty. I was a member of the Council, but I didn't get any share of the booty."

Henry L. Weeks said: "What if money was distributed? I don't see any wrong in benefiting men who fought and won in a just cause. The men who worked for the passage of the Central Traction deserved something."

Delegate Edmund Berch said: "I don't expect to get anything out of the bill unless it is the insurance on the lower bridge. I am in that business. Mr. Blasing is a neighbor of mine and I will ask him for the insurance. But I have no pledge or promise."

Delegates Watson and Weeks were opposed to the bill when it was first introduced. Beside Mr. Uthoff, the members of the Council who voted for the bill were John G. Brinkmeyer, Charles E. Carroll, Henry Gaus, J. Paulus Gast, Oliver Hagan, George P. Heckel, Charles Kraus and Charles Turner. Those who voted against it were E. F. W. Meier, W. M. Horton and Charles Wiggins. During the scandal that followed the passage of the bill Mr. Wiggins said he had been offered $2000 to vote for the measure. Halley C. Lives, who was known to be opposed to it, was absent when the vote was taken.

He would pause often in his walk and look toward the grandjury room, as though he were expecting a summons.

At this juncture John E. Houchens, member of the House of Delegates from the Third ward, entered the witness room. Mr. Sweeney was apparently in a great hurry, but he took off his great coat and his over-shoes, and picking out a comfortable chair he sat down and began to read the newspaper.

"I had a right to take that subpoena that they served on me and go on about my business," said Alderman Sweeney. "They had me named in the subpoena as John E. Houchens, and that is not my name, it is long short."

Nevertheless the statesman from the Third ward made no effort to leave the witness room.

Joseph N. Judge, clerk of the House of Delegates, arrived with the records of the House.

"Don't put me down as a witness," said Mr. Judge. "I have been asked to bring the official records of the House to the grandjury, and I have complied with the request. That is all."

THE BOOKS OF THE WORLD OF THE WOMAN'S ADVICE

Immediate Relief from the Use of Paine's Celery Compound.

BOSTON, Jan. 13, 1902.

TO THE SUFFERING PUBLIC: It is with a feeling of extreme gratitude and thankfulness and a humane desire to benefit others that I write you my own experience in the use of Prof. Edward E. Paine's wonderful preparation, called "Paine's Celery Compound." Owing to a fall from a horse several years ago, I became a nervous invalid, and last year I entered a hospital as a patient, where I was operated on by a famous New York surgeon.

The surgical operation was successful, but nervous prostration followed. A summer in Newport, with the best medical attendance, failed to restore my nerves to their normal condition. I was absolutely unable to digest any solid food, and this weak condition of my digestive organs, combined with insomnia, caused the deepest depression. A constant tenderness and soreness in the region of my stomach, with a dull headache and extreme weakness, created a feeling of hopelessness, from which I was unable to rise.

It was in this melancholy frame of mind that I chanced to meet a Boston lawyer, who said to me, "I was in almost the condition that you are now in, and after spending hundreds of dollars without receiving any benefit I was induced by a friend to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial, which I did, and it cured me completely when everything else had failed."

I was rather skeptical about trying a prepared medicine, but I ordered a bottle from my druggist and began to take it according to directions. Much to my surprise I slept soundly at night and did not wake in the morning with the usual dull headache. Then, too, I developed an appetite for solid food and soon I was able to digest a course dinner without any unpleasant sensations. I am now completely restored to health after about two months' use of the Compound. Sympathizing deeply with all who may be suffering as I did, I take this method of reaching strangers, after writing personal letters to my particular friends.

With the sincere hope that others may be benefited as I have been by the use of Paine's Celery Compound, I am Very truly yours,

SUNDAY ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Baptist.

The Young Men's Missionary Society of the Lafayette Park Baptist Church has elected for the coming year: J. P. Sledge, president; A. L. Seelye, vice-president; C. W. Lee, secretary; and C. W. Williams, treasurer. This society meets the third Friday of each month and is studying pioneer missionary work and workers.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Carleton has just closed his sixth year as pastor of the Lafayette Park Baptist Church, and enters upon his seventh year with very bright hopes. This is now the second Baptist church in membership in the city, having a membership of 900, not including the "Lafayette Park" church, which is under the supervision of this church.

The February Sunday School Institute was held at the Lafayette Park Baptist Church, and was a most successful one. The subject, "Primary Work," was discussed by Miss Kate Hane, Mrs. Thomas Burgess and Mrs. S. J. West.

The report which was read at the quarterly meeting of the Board of Christian Education of the Baptist Church, recently held at the Lafayette Park Baptist Church, was a most encouraging one. There were 50 men at work in the field, 782 professions of conversion and 563 baptisms.

A successor has not yet been selected to the position of pastor of the Lafayette Park Baptist Church, but the church is in a most prosperous condition. There were 50 men at work in the field, 782 professions of conversion and 563 baptisms.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

Each time the United States Government has officially tested the baking powders the report has shown Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder to be of superlative leavening strength, free from alum, absolutely pure and wholesome.

This is gratifying, for Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is depended upon by millions of people to raise their daily bread.

NOTE.—These Government inquiries also developed the fact that there are many mixtures upon the market made in imitation of baking powder, but containing alum or other caustic acid, whose use in food is dangerous.

BIG THEATRICAL BENEFIT

Grand Opera House Friday Afternoon
Will Give the Best Things From the Best Popular Shows.

All of the preliminary arrangements have been made for the firemen's relief fund benefit to be given at the Grand Opera House, Friday afternoon next. In addition to furnishing the house complete with all of its apparatus, the house management has assumed all of the responsibility for the arrangement of the program of entertainment.

Jake Rosenthal, manager of "The Telephone Girl," will give his whole show, and is only sorry he cannot give morning and afternoon performances in such a cause. The managers of the other companies gave the same response.

Under this arrangement there will be in addition to "The Telephone Girl" be scenes from "The Patsy Wedding," from "Havens," several of the specialties from "A Ragged Hero," from the Imperial, will be introduced during the performance. Manager Tate of the Columbia has volunteered several vaudeville specialties. Manager Leo Helsenback of the Standard has also made a selection of the best of the features from his show of the week.

The orchestra will be a combined one of all of these theaters, and the program of music will be a special one which is now being arranged by Prof. Guido Vogel.

The prices will be the same as the regular ones at the Grand Opera House. Seats are now on sale at the box office, and tickets will also be placed in the hands of both the fire and police departments. The gross receipts will go to the general benefit fund.

CITY NEWS.

The spot of all spots at which to outfit your boys in hats and nice clothing at most moderate prices is the CRAWFORD STORE!! Get out of your old rut and try it once!! It will be a revelation to you to find Boys' Clothing sold at a profit in this store to be less in price than the fakers prices, who are eternally shouting "wolf, wolf," and eternally selling their goods at 25 cents on the dollar, as it were!

SOME ACCOUNT OF THE BRAVE MEN WHO DIED AT FIRE TUESDAY NIGHT

Funeral arrangements have been made for nearly all the firemen killed in the Chestnut street fire. Some account of their family relations and their great service to the people may be found in the following brief biographies:

August Thiery began service in the St. Louis Fire Department 22 years ago. He rose successively to the positions of pumperman, assistant foreman, assistant chief and first assistant chief. He was married in September, 1884, to Miss Lizzie Smiley and she, with three children, May, 16 years old; Frances, aged 9, and Eugene, 6 years old, survive him. The dead chief's three brothers, Charles W., Edward and Theodore T. Thiery, are engaged in the plumbing business.

Another brother, Columbus T. Thiery, is living in Chicago. August Thiery was a member of Lafayette Lodge, No. 416, K. of B., and Jewel of the West Lodge, 349, K. of B.

Daniel W. Steele, foreman of engine company No. 12, had been connected with the department many years. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Minnie Steele, and one child, a son, 11 years old. Three brothers and three sisters live in the East. On four occasions Fireman Steele was seriously injured in the discharge of his duties. But he always bore his attack bravely and would never complain of his sufferings.

Michael J. Keene, who belonged to engine company No. 12, was a widower and had three children, John Keene, aged 12 years; Annie Keene, 10 years old, and an adopted son, James Keene, aged 12 years. Mrs. Keene has been in ill-health for some time and has been nearer and dearer and more constant to her than her courageous husband.

The knock of the Chestnut street fire with doubtless forced upon her. All the firemen at No. 12 are brave fellows, but none of them, according to his superiors, surpassed Mike Keene in this respect. He feared no danger, "quay" bay, and although he had had several miraculous escapes from death, he never said "I'm in it" to his superiors.

Charles Westenhof, another to forfeit his life at the post of duty, lived just across the street from August Thiery. He was 32 years old. He was a pumperman, connected with engine company No. 12, and was married to a woman named Mary Westenhof. His mother, Mrs. Mary Westenhof, is an aged widow, 70 years old, living at 1000 Westenhof, survive him.

Franklin W. McDuffie was a son of John L. McDuffie, at one time a prominent contractor, and recently employed as a sewer inspector, and who was 30 years of age. He was the oldest of Chief McDuffie's five children. He leaves a widow and seven children, ranging in age from 5 to 15 years.

Charles H. Krenning, who had no children, was 30 years old. He was a pumperman, and was married to a woman named Irene, the only child, aged 5 years.

Mrs. Krenning had often urged her husband to give up the perilous life of a fireman.

William Dundon was 23 years old and belonged to engine company No. 24. He had been in the department a short time, and during that time had made a record

WOMAN'S GENTLE NATURE
CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maids or wives or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative—is Syrup of Figs. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant, aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Many of the ills from which women suffer are of a transient nature and do not come from any organic trouble and it is pleasant to know that they yield so promptly to the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs, but when anything more than a laxative is needed it is best to consult the family physician and to avoid the old-time cathartics and loudly advertised nostrums of the present day. When one needs only to remove the strain, the torpor, the congestion, or similar ills, which attend upon a constipated condition of the system, use the true and gentle remedy—Syrup of Figs—and enjoy freedom from the depression, the aches and pains, colds and headaches, which are due to inactivity of the bowels.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs can hope to get its beneficial effects and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere at 50 cents per bottle.

SMOOTH COINS ARE GOOD FOR PASSAGE

TRANSIT COMPANY INSTRUCTS
CONDUCTORS ON THIS POINT.

Judge Ryan's Recent Decision Believed to Be Responsible for the New Order.

Smooth nickels, pennies and dimes are good for fares on the transit company's lines, according to orders which have been issued to conductors by Supt. John Grant.

Nickels, pennies and silver coins of all denominations which are stamped, bent or twisted out of shape or otherwise imperfect, will be accepted by the conductors.

Pieces which are smooth from natural wear, and show no material loss of metal, are to be accepted without question.

Coins which are punched, clipped, engraved with monograms, or which show willful mutilation, are not to be accepted.

Gold coins are to be taken only when in first-class condition.

The new rule, which has gone into effect, will cause conductors to be less exacting in their requirement for perfect coins.

Conductors have often compelled passengers to walk by refusing to accept smooth coins, and in many more cases unpleasant disputes have arisen over coins which were undoubtedly genuine, but had suffered from wear or accident.

No one, Judge Ryan said, has the right to refuse to accept a coin of the United States mintage, unless it is gold, whatever its condition from wear. This decision is believed to be responsible for the transit company's action.
